DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1-3 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.
3. The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd. App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this

Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the article, "Brokerage accounts that do it all," by W. Giese (Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine, May 1992, Volume 46, p.69).
8. Giese explicitly teaches an asset management account that combines a stock, bond or mutual fund with a loan, such as a margin account. One example taught by Giese is a 6.75% loan given by A.G. Edwards for loans up to $50,000.
9. Claim 2 and 4 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the article, "Brokerage accounts that do it all," by W. Giese (Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine, May 1992, Volume 46, p.69).
10. Giese explicitly teaches the use of a money market fund that has capital gains, which can then be in conjunction with a checking account to make payments.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

11. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

12. Claim 3 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Giese in view of "Mortgage escrow class action suits," by Kenneth Harney, (New Hampshire Business Review, 4/14/95, Volume 17, issue 8)
13. Giese teaches incremental improved net worth. Giese does not teach an escrow account. The Harney article does teach the use of a banking escrow account.
14. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to combine the brokerage account Giese with an escrow account taught by the Harney article. There would be motivation because an escrow account would allow for accumulation of funds that could then be transferred as a payment to another source.
